To take a testing break click the red X and another screen will appear. Next click the red X above “Stop the Test”.

The image displays two overlapping screenshots from a Scantron assessment interface. The top screenshot shows a question: "To be in control is to be in _____" with four radio button options: A. trouble, B. the right place, C. shock, and D. charge. A red 'X' icon is visible on the right side of the question screen. The bottom screenshot is a "Test Stopped" dialog box. It features the "Performance Series" logo and asks, "Do you want to return to the test?". Below this question are two options: a green checkmark labeled "Yes, Return to the Test" and a red 'X' labeled "Stop the Test". A red arrow points to the red 'X' in the "Stop the Test" option. To the right of the dialog box is a yellow warning icon. A red arrow also points to the red 'X' icon on the right side of the question screen above.
